

Hello Boys and Girls

Remember, remember the fifth of November....Bonfire Night is nearly here and if you look outside after dark you might see some bright and sparkly fireworks in the sky.

In this story, Bing finds out how loud some fireworks can be!

Now here are the activities for the week. We have split them into different areas of learning. Remember, they can be done in any order that you like.

PSED	We want you to stay safe on Bonfire Night. Talk about what is happening in the Bonfire Night picture. How does everyone keep safe? https://www.eastriding.gov.uk/EasySiteWeb/GatewayLink.aspx?alId=397397
Physical Development	In Nursery we learn how to use scissors safely. If you have got some child scissors at home, have a go at cutting some paper into zigzag firework explosions!
Literacy	How many sound words can you think of? Here are a couple: Pop Crash
Maths	This counting song has the same tune as 'Ten Green Bottles'. When it's time to blast off, make sure you leap up high into the sky! 10 little fireworks standing in a row, 10 little fireworks standing in a row When one little firework decides it's time to go, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, blast off, There'll be 9 little fireworks standing in a row. 9 little fireworks 8 little fireworks etc
Understanding the World	We are looking at magnets on our discovery table this week. Have you got any magnets in your house? Can you pick any small items up with your magnet? Some things will stick to magnets but others will not. I wonder why?

Expressive Art

We are making firework pictures with black paper and bright chalks this week. You could also use crayons or paint.

Finally, after all the excitement of Bonfire Night, we hope you are better at getting to sleep than Little Bear. Listen to the story of Can't you sleep Little Bear by Martin Waddell and read by Kevin Whately.
